Privacy Policy

The management and protection of personal data of the Member is subject to the terms of this document and the relevant provisions of Greek Law (N. 2472/1997 on the protection of individuals from the processing of personal data as amended and applicable as well as the relevant to this Law provisions) and EU Law.

The Company is committed to protecting personal information and data provided by Members. For this purpose, the Company has taken the necessary technical security measures for the organization and processing organization of the Members' personal data.

The personal information collected is stored in limited access servers controlled by passwords and the Company uses special technologies and procedures and takes strict physical, electronic, and administrative security measures to enhance the protection of such information against loss or misuse and to also to protect such information against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration or destruction. The Company will retain possession of Members' data for a reasonable period of time, or for as long as required by Law.

Security of Transactions.

The Company undertakes the responsibility of ensuring data security and integrity that it collects from the Members of the webpage. The Company has adopted procedures that protect the personal data that the members provide on its website or by any other means (e.g. telephone). These procedures protect the data and information of the Members of any unauthorized access or disclosure, loss or misuse, and alteration or destruction. They also help to certify that the information is accurate and used properly.

Disclosure of personal data. The personal data provided by the Members will remain on the www.gymdetector.com server. The Company may disclose such information to employees and to third parties, i.e. subsidiaries or affiliated to the Company, business partners, companies with which the Company may have formed a joint-venture or has merged with, government bodies, judicial and administrative authorities, successors of the Company's business and contractors, which process the data and information as per an agreement with the Company and which are acting on behalf of the Company for the purposes specified in the present Privacy Policy or to comply with legal obligations or for other purposes to which the Members expressly consent.

All abovementioned recipients agree and undertake to use Members' personal data in accordance with the Terms of Use (link) and for the purposes set out in them.

Unless specifically required by law, the Company will not proceed otherwise in the notification, sale or disclosure of any information provided by the Member without his/her knowledge and his/her consent.

In addition, the Company has the right to disclose personal information that Members provide to third parties other than those mentioned above only in the following cases:

(a) to comply with requirements of the law, judicial decisions or administrative authorities,

(b) to act under urgent circumstances to protect the personal safety of Members, of the Gym Detector web locations and the public.
